

FEBRUARY 17, 2016

The past 30 days have been very interesting. After driving all the way to Westmoreland on the 25th of January to attend a scheduled grant writing workshop, that I had signed up for, only to find it had been cancelled at the last minute. Apparently not enough people had signed up. It sure would have been nice if the State had notified me.

After returning that morning I finished compiling my final draft of "A Brief History of The Town of Amboy". I appreciate the many people that helped me on this project, especially Ed Liesenski and Dick Bryan in clarifying dates and locations.

When finishing the required text for the Oswego County Bicentennial Booklet I decided to expand on my project and place it in a small booklet form to distribute to our local officials as well as the Historical Society and residents who might want a copy. As of today I have 25 copies available. I will, upon request have more available. A copy was also sent on to the Oswego County Historians Association. Again, thanks to everyone who contributed their information for inclusion in the booklet.

I have received two correspondence this past month. One concerning genealogy, which I will pass on to the Historical Society, the second from a historical author looking for a chance to talk on various topics for a very reasonable fee. This information I shall also share with the Historical Society.

Respectfully submitted,

Tim Kelley
